

JOIN US AND EARN $100 BY PARTICIPATING IN: UConn FARMS, FOREST, AND OPEN SPACE FOCUS GROUP

There is high demand for living space and shopping amenities in areas once considered rural. Connecticut residents may have noticed an increase in residential and commercial development. This trend is threatening to Connecticut's rural character, as development projects are often built over longstanding farms, forests, and open space. Researchers from the University of Connecticut want to gain insight on the value local CT residents place on the use of these land types via survey. All surveys must undergo focus group testing to improve their communication of ideas. The feedback you give in focus group sessions will help us create a better survey in the future.

Important dates:

Wednesday, 7/6/16

5 pm – 7 pm

Killingly, CT Public Library

Thursday, 7/7/16

5 pm – 7 pm

Killingly, CT Public Library

Saturday, 7/9/16

10 am – 12 pm

Killingly, CT Public Library

Sunday, 7/10/16

10 am – 12 pm

Killingly, CT Public Library

LIMIT OF 8
PARTICIPANTS PER DAY

For scheduling, please contact Gabriel Marmolejos at:

gabriel.marmolejos@uconn.edu

or, (203)814-2694